

It all begins with Magic.

We present MagicBox®, a touch display case that changes everything. Thanks to MagicBox®, exhibition makers can showcase rare books and valuable artworks behind glass and at the same time give visitors the opportunity to “touch” and interact with them. All the visitor has to do is touch the front glass of the MagicBox® and a digital version of the displayed book or artwork appears under his fingers. The visitor can now interact with the digital clone while the original exhibit remains visible in the MagicBox®. What sounds like magic is already a reality in some of the best and most progressive libraries and museums in the world. When will you join?

docWorks

